MEET OUR SPEAKERS

The Runstad Center for Real Estate Studies, The Washington State CCIM Chapter, in partnership with the Oregon and Idaho State CCIM Chapters, SAP, Commercial Brokers Association, and SVN proudly present an academic and professional Symposium focusing on asset optimization of public and private real estate assets, generating more economic development activity and demand for real estate through innovative “place-making” strategies, and transforming undervalued urban neighborhoods.

Symposium attendees will gain new perspectives on how collaborative, regional “place-making” strategies will add significant value to the existing “world class” innovation ecosystems in the UW/Seattle region and statewide. Regional collaboration will drive public and private real estate asset optimization, and attract more companies/entrepreneurs, and inclusive social and economic value to regional stakeholders.
